

Together, we can stop climate change from changing New Hampshire

Climate change isn't an abstraction – it's here, and it's affecting our state already. Leaves are turning later each year, maple syrup production is being put at risk and the changing weather is threatening iconic wildlife like moose.

But more importantly, people across our state are being put at risk for more extreme weather, and homes along our coast stand to be devastated by the impacts of sea level rise. Bernie Sanders understands the threat of climate change, and that's why he's spent his whole career speaking out for solutions. Bernie was ranked the #1 elected leader on climate issues by Climate Hawks Vote, and called "the most aggressive [climate] voice in the Senate" by leading environmentalist Bill McKibben. He opposed the Keystone XL pipeline from day one and holds a 95% lifetime score from the League of Conservation Voters.

Bernie Sanders has a plan to save our natural wonders by keeping the dirtiest fuels in the ground, making clean, renewable energy more accessible for low-income families, and ending corporate welfare for big oil and gas.
